My dear “Boh” Etonde,

Today, friends and family members remember you as you celebrate five decades of your life. Some are physically present there tonight with you, while others, like me, are connecting to tonight’s festivities in spirit.

You are a rare gem.

I thank God for allowing our paths to cross in this lifetime.

I ask God for special blessings upon you ... I pray for your happiness, of course, but also for a greater sense of fulfillment in your work, and a sense of satisfaction in all that you have achieved and are yet to accomplish.

As you continue in your mission to spread love and laughter among God’s People, I want you to know that goodness and mercy shall follow you too, all the days of your life.

Above all, may you be comforted in the knowledge of God’s constant love and care for you, personally, because His word promises us that when you delight yourself also in the Lord, He shall give you the desires of your heart. (Psalm 37:4)

Happy 50th birthday, my dear Sister and Friend.

Your “boh”

Marie Takusi-Njowo
